

Who doesn't like a good book between dives? Charlie Hudson is married to our instructor Hugh Hudson, and when she's not along diving for fun, she's creating more novels like Shades of Murder, Shades of Truth and Shades of Gold. Her police detective, Bev Henderson, stays busy in the fictional town of Verde Key, Florida with her share of complicated homicides, scuba diving in her spare time, and fending off her mother's questions as to why her assistant DA boyfriend, Kyle, hasn't proposed yet.

You can read the first chapter of Charlie's books on her web site www.charliehudson.net and check out her special offers. Her books can be ordered on-line through all the major stores or ask your favorite bookstore to order it for you.

A tale of vengeance gone wrong, an innocent woman caught up in a twenty-year old secret, a powerful man who feels protected from justice, and Police Detective Bev Henderson who won't stop until she uncovers the truth of a dead accountant. Plunge into Shades of Truth for an exciting story with memorable characters.

An old man takes his boat out late at night seeking Indian spirits, a young man is obsessed with a woman who no longer loves him, and a Hollywood prop director prepares for a location shoot. It's a typical spring in the Florida Keys until bodies start piling up. Police Detective Bev Henderson may enjoy diving in the warm waters, but do they also hold a deadly secret? Join her in Shades of Gold as she refuses to accept the easy answers as to why the morgue is becoming crowded.
